Distributed ledger technology, or the Bitcoin blockchain, is being tested at the Kudankulam Nuclear Power Plant. A new pilot project at the 11,000-megawatt plant, operated by the Tamil Nadu Electricity Board (TNEB) and situated in India's southern state of Tamil Nadu, will use an enterprise-level blockchain to store documents for its employees to use while they're working together. Kudankulam Power is India's first nuclear power plant using MSR1000 reactors, and is considered one of the biggest in the world. It was the first reactor of the Indian Atomic Energy Centre to be constructed and is expected to be the first atomic power plant with the world's largest installed capacity. TNEB and plant operator Atomic Power Corporation of India Ltd. (APCoIL) are collaborating on the distributed ledger project, which will be a first of its kind within India's nuclear power industry. The blockchain, which is expected to be operational by 2019, will store time-stamped documents from the planning stage of the nuclear power plant to its operation, through a customizable timestamping mechanism. It will reduce document lengths, eliminate the need to send documents via different platforms and help companies save millions on paper and printing costs, according to a press release from APCoIL. A blockchain is a database that is shared across multiple nodes on a network, with a “ledger” of transactions distributed to all users and maintained by cryptography, without a central point of control. What's new in White Day - Christmas Costume - Dal-Su Son:

ichu Costume - Mario Update Tutorial Time. Volume 2: Dal-Su Sonichu and Mario. Hey guys! Here's the second and final part of the Black and White Day tutorial. I'm also modelling my own (private) Mario from my own comics. For this tutorial you'll need to have the .rar of my Dal-Su Sonichu costume in the post titled (read it carefully) you'll also need a dalet and an equalizer. This tutorial will show you a LOT of the subtleties of dressing up as a character. Make sure you listen well. This is very important. I'll describe each individual item so you can make every single little adjustment if you want. First you're gonna wanna do one stock bra with your Dal-Su's chest. Rough guess-work: Take an equalizer(in the olden days they were called a compressor or equalizer in others) that's longer than your top, about in the range of your neck. In that case your neck circumference is gonna be around the middle of your neck. Take your dalet and tape the equalizer to the back of it. You will have about 3/4 of an inch to width. Tape it to the back of the equalizer. Make sure you cover the equalizer so it'll look like one and the same thing. Then take the stock bra and tape it to the top of the part that's supposed to cover your... chest. Tape it around the front so it's tight enough to stay on, but isn't too tight. Then you're gonna make a support bra. Place it under the dalet. Take the equalizer and tape it on under your support. Then wrap tape to the back of it so it can be used as a closure, but still not be over your top. Then you're going to make a facemask. This is a mask that is directly over your face that is only black, and, from experience, pretty difficult to make especially in the day time. You may want to make two of these depending on the size of your facemask. You're gonna take a single equalizer and tape it to the front of your facemask. Then tape the facemask above the equalizer and tape it together. Then you're going
