few questions related to my question, but none of them is specific to Silverlight and Firefox, so I am asking a new question. I am using Firefox and I need the Google Maps API to work in it. I have managed to get Google Maps API V2 working on Firefox. But it does not show info windows as it does on other browsers. I am looking for a fix or a workaround to achieve this.

Here's what I have tried so far: I have used Firefox's version of Silverlight (it's called add-on) to get Google Maps API working on Firefox. I have Google Maps JavaScript API which I got from google, but it does not support info windows. I have also tried a jQuery-based
