What's New in the?

Scanmarker scans all sorts of document images and converts them into editable text. It is extremely convenient because you can easily edit text without having to open a word processor program. This unique text editing tool is able to perform the conversion of scanned images in a variety of resolutions and file formats, so you can scan different document types without having to select a specific program. This software has been designed in such a way that it is as easy to use as any other word processing tool.

Scanmarker Features: Scanmarker is not a traditional text editor. It is more like a high-quality ink-jet printer that works with scanned images. The program's scanning engine is able to scan different document types including documents, business cards, receipts, and of course, photographs.

The software's conversion engine is extremely fast, it can convert scanned images with a 300 dpi resolution in a matter of seconds. The text editing engine of Scanmarker allows you to edit scanned text with ease. In addition to just straight text editing, you can save your edits to a word processing document. The software is able to work with images of various file formats including PDF, jpg, and tiff. It is the only program that is able to convert scanned images into editable text with the widest possible range of document types. It allows you to convert images in the following formats: TIFF EPS JPG EPS PDF RTF PGF FOF PAF TXT MFF SYLK WLK TXT HTML DOC XPS
